A HAULER'S DREAM

The blind-spot-assist towing package system, which includes three cameras: two side view cameras, and one for mounting on the rear of the customer's trailer is a hauler's dream. It is compatible with all 2014-2017 model year Silverado/Sierra HD trucks and 1500 trucks with the available trailer-towing mirrors.

The two side cameras are seamlessly integrated into the housing for the side-view mirrors, for improved vision along the sides of the truck and trailer. When the driver activates the turn signal, the system automatically displays the correlating side view in the center screen.

The rear camera is designed to be mounted to the top, rearmost edge of the trailer, providing a view of what's behind the trailer when reversing. This camera is hardwired to the trailer lights for electrical power, and wirelessly transmits images to the display using a closed wireless network. It also features infrared lighting, enabling enhanced images in low-light settings.

FOURTH CAMERA AVAILABLE

The system also supports the use of an optional fourth camera. This can include an additional camera installed inside the trailer, transmitting video to monitor horses, cattle, other livestock, or content during transport. Any of the four camera views can be activated at any time on the radio screen to bring up the camera menu screen.

The truck's rear backup camera is activated when reverse is selected. Pressing and holding the radio Home button for five seconds brings up the camera menu screen to select the trailer camera image.
